

Knowledge is priceless

By Carole Hoffman

Back when I graduated college, I was sure I would never be going back to school again. I was done. A bachelor's was enough! Or so I thought. But almost 17 years later, I found myself sitting in a Spiritual Philosophy discussion group, listening to the deepest level of truth I had ever heard or felt in my life. I was hooked. All of a sudden, I had a thirst for knowledge triggered within me, I'd never known the likes of before.

How can we be loving when we are filled with so much fear in our lives? Disease, job loss, crime and war, its all around us. Spiritual Philosophy helps me understand why we live this and how we can change it. It explains the energy behind the "madness" and helps me to feel the energy of "sanity" in an otherwise crazy, mixed up world. At least in my own world within my mind, there is peace. That peacefulness did not exist in my world until I

And "back to school" I went. That was over 15 years ago, and I am still a dedicated and committed student of Spiritual Philosophy, as taught by the Institute of Metaphysical Studies, now located in Pittsboro.

What have I learned and why do I still study Spiritual Philosophy? After all, isn't 15 years enough? What I've learned is that learning is a life long process. Life is learning. We learn every day and in everything we do. Spiritual Philosophy puts it all together for me. It teaches me the "why" and the "how" of life. It connects the dots and makes sense out of what otherwise seems senseless to me. It teaches me to love. Not just to say it, but to live it and to be love. This has not been an easy thing to learn. After all, began to gain the knowledge that Spiritual Philosophy (as ancient philosophy) teaches.

This knowledge is the lifeline that can pull us out of the depths of the depression and fear that now plagues our society, and help us find the happiness, peacefulness and love that we all want to live. If you want your life to make sense, and to "work" for you try a dose of Spiritual Philosophy. If you do, I think you too will be hooked, just like me.

This knowledge is priceless!
